Sirs:- I noticed in the Philadelphia Ledger that there was a sale of old coins in your rooms, and that several pennies were sold of the date of 1793. I have a penny of that date, the bearing a head with wavering hair resembling an indian, Liberty above the head and below the head a branch with several leaves above date. On reverse side United States of America a wreath and one cent. It is the least bit smaller and a little thicker than those coined in 1794, and there after. I have also one of date 1794, & one of 1798 but the last two are not as well preserved as the one of 1793.

Yours truly
James Blough

I would have written to S. & H. before but did not

If you know of any one wanting such coin let him write to me.
